

You should deliver a schematic/block diagram according to your understanding of the requirements.

